

Yes No Maybe

This is a great getting to know you activity – or a getting to know people better. It works well in groups from about 10 – 40. Beforehand, print out all of the situations (and add your own, if you have more) and cut them up, so each situation is on its own paper. (please read them through and take out any that aren't appropriate for your group) Sit in a circle and everyone gets a red, yellow and green card (card stock or construction paper cut into 4 pieces). Have the first person read his or her situation and then everyone raise a card – red for no, yellow for sometimes, green for yes.

I am someone who would Holler at the umpire	I am someone who would kiss on the first date	I am someone who would gamble on fourth down
I am someone who would Rather walk than ride	I am someone who Would blush at the mention of sex	I am someone who would Stand up for the underdog
I am someone who would go to the bathroom when the movie got scary	I am someone who would leave if the game got dull	I am someone who would slurp for the last drop
I am someone who would go on a blind date	I am someone who would rather play ball than eat	I am someone who would tell a friend she has bad breath

I am someone who would stay in shape year around	I am someone who would get to the game or show early to watch the practice	In a new situation, I usually feel frightened
In a new situation, I usually feel Comfortable	In a new situation, I usually feel Funny/awkward	In a new situation, I usually feel Outgoing
In a new situation, I usually feel Painfully shy	In a new situation, I usually feel Relaxed/easy going	In a new situation, I usually feel Uptight
In a new situation, I usually feel Tongue-tied	I am someone who would get all A's in school	I am someone who would pick the top bunk
I am someone who would talk to the shy person	I am someone who would drive with the top down	I am someone who would rather read than watch
I am someone who would ask someone for help	I am someone who would care what others thought	I am someone who would dress to fit in

I have never failed a test	I have never gotten a ticket	I have never stayed up talking when I should have been asleep
I have never had an adult angry at me	I have never said something mean to anyone	I have never had a heart-breaking crush
I have never judged anyone at first glance	I have never hit anyone	I have never taken anything without asking